The trouble with ipads ..

I really can’t think of a device that has more revolutionized my teaching with technology. It’s light and portable, takes and edit images or movies easily, allows students to easily create and present assignments, research, easily keep in contact with others in numerous ways .. and has access to thousands of very affordable applications. Repair costs are a fraction of a laptop.

The trouble is, they can take a little expertise to manage in numbers, particularly in a managed network environment.

Deception Bay High has been working with iPads in the Education Queensland environment since they were launched in 2011. We presently have nearly 10 iPads deployed across the school. Consequently, we have developed considerable knowledge around these devices and on Thursday, March 19 we’re going to share.

We’re offering a half day Professional Development looking at :

- Successful use in the classroom
- App suggestions
- Student device management suggestions
- Configurator setup
- Pushing apps to devices
- Hardware setup
- Hardware suggestions & setup
- App purchase
- Mac Server
- Connecting devices to Network Drives
- Device setup

This PD is suitable for Primary & Secondary teaching & tech staff.
